Julie Degen has been herding since 1989. Her first herding dog, a German Shepherd named Scamp, was a demo dog at one of the first AKC herding seminars in February 1990. Since then, she has finished Herding Champion titles on 6 dogs, three on German Shepherds, two on Border Collies, and one Bearded Collie. Julie has trained and titled dogs to Advanced titles on all four AKC courses and has won many High in Trials from all four AKC courses and on all types of stock. Julie has trained and trialed three dogs to five national titles of GSDCA Herding Victor/Victrix. Julie's bitch Kestrel was the first dual champion to win the national and the first AKC breed champion to earn the coveted SV HGH title. Julie is the breeder/owner/trainer of the first Triple Champion GSD bitch, ChaChing, who is also the first GSD to be titled on all 4 courses with all livestock. Julie is a herding judge for all four AKC courses and also competes in ASCA and USBCHA trials. Besides herding, Julie has been involved in many dog sports over the years but is currently an active competitor in agility, conformation, and tracking. After moving all over the world courtesy of 30 years in the US Army, Julie and her husband EJ settled in northern Virginia on a small farm where they have sheep, ducks, chickens, guineas, horses, potbelly pigs, cats, a parrot, German Shepherds, Border Collies, and a token Papillon who rules the farm.
